

ALEXANDRIA, VA. MONDAY EVENING, FEB. 13, 1893.

As STATED in Saturday's GAZETTE, the District committee of the U. S. House of Representatives, on that day, reported favorably a bill allowing the Washington, Alexandria and Mt. Vernon Railroad Company to build a bridge across the Potomac at Arlington. The bill has now to be similarly reported by the commerce committees of the House and the Senate, and then to pass both branches of Congress, before it can be operative. Senator McMillan, of the Senate District committee, from which the bill was transferred to the commerce committee, says it can hardly become a law at this late stage of the session. Unfortunately, with the pressure for the passage of other and more important bills, he has good reason for his opinion; but, for all that, if the friends of the bill exert all their energies they may yet succeed, as the bill involves no expense to the government, for as long as there is life there is hope.

THE Congressional committee that investigated the Homestead strike, in their report, say that strikers "have no right, legal or moral, by force or intimidation, to keep others from taking their places, or to attempt to occupy, injure, or destroy the property of their employers." Well, it certainly didn't require an expensive Congressional investigating committee to make any such patent, and common sense and common law statement. But there are some Congressmen conscientious enough to think that they should do five thousand dollars a year and mileage they receive.

sioners, and while the recipients and their friends may object, it should and excess of that of other must be assorted from the chaff. The while that might be so, General Cornright must be separated from the wrong.

With such good "backing," the southern democrats in Congress should certainly be able to make a successful stand against the pension swindlers, notwithstanding the support rendered the latter by Mr. Weissert, the commander-in-chief of the G. A. R.

FOR MANY months Secretary Foster has been asserting that there would be a surplus in the Treasury at the close of the present fiscal year. But now, on purpose of completing their report to the eve of the close of the republican however, will work no delay in the poses an amendment to one of the appropriation bills, providing for the sale of government bonds in order to offset a patent deficit in the department referwhich they allow themselves to be swindled.

the matter of Cabinet appointments can hardly be true, for the reason that Mr. Gorman is a well informed man, and unnecessary for him to make any such statement. No man at all familiar with the life and character of the senior Maryland Senator could be induced to believe that he recommended Judge Gresham for the premiership of a democratic administration.

WASHINGTON, WITH all its many hotels, is to have another one. The building on the site of the old Kirkwood Hotel, now known as the Palais Royal, corner of 12th street and Pennsylvania avenue, is the one that has been selected for the purpose. The greatest presest need of Alexandria is a first class hotel on King street, near the centre of the city, and the requisite money could not possibly be more profitably invested.

the gold of this country has been sent to England since the first of the year. In view of the recent refusal of Congress to repeal the act compelling the government to purchase four and a half million ounces of silver bullion every month, upon which to issue silver notes, the immense export of gold referred to may be looked upon as only a "starter."

MR. ROBERT INGERSOLL'S ideas on the subject of infidelity and of destroying womens' faith in Christianity, without giving them any other faith in exchange, is perfectly clear and plain, but he can't, for the life of him, tell the amount the Panama swindlers paid him for "creating a public feeling in this people. country in their favor"-that is, he says

Not content with this government's proposed annexation of Hawaii, Canada and Cuba, some American capitalists have already got possession of all the customs houses in San Domingo. [Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.] Washington, Feb. 13, 1893. Senator Peffer, populist, said to-day that he firmly believed that Congress had power and the authority to regu-late the movement of Pinkerton's men from one State to another, and that he proposed, as soon as possible in the coming session, to introduce a bill for that purpose. While his proposed measure may not be what is required, Mr. Peffer says that it is only by the discussion that a bill of some sort would bring about that the proper remedy can be ascertained and applied.

The Senate judiciary committee this morning unanimously decided to report favorably the nomination of Judge Howell E. Jackson to be one of the asthe nomination of Judge sociate justices of the Supreme Court of the United States. The nomination will probably be confirmed at the next executive session of the Senate.

The House District of Columbia committee at its last Saturday's meeting re-ported a bill allowing the Washington, and Arlington Railroad to cross the Po tomac on the piers of the old Alexandria canal aqueduct.

The Senate to-day passed a bill to pay the Potomac steamboat Company $5,090, that being the sum the company. by a decision of the U.S. court for the eastern district of Virginia, had to pay the Baker Salvage Company for services rendered to the steamer Excelsior, belonging to said company, when she was sunk by the U.S. steam tug Fortune in

Hampton Roads eleven years ago. It is said at the Capitol to-day that there is no doubt of the fact that Secretary Foster has already made arrangements for printing government bonds by the sale of which he hopes to get enough gold to keep up the requisite supply of that coin, and thus prevent a

The Vice President laid before the Senate to-day a communication from the Attorney General recommending that of the appropriation of $775,000 for fees and expenses of marshals, $450,000 be advanced to marshals to meet their current expenses for service of process. An appropriation of $20,000 is also recommended for criers in United States Senator Hawley gave notice in the Senate to-day of an amendment he would offer to the legislative bill, which places on a special roll the names of persons habitually employed about the Senate chamber, whose federal army records and service in the Senate justly entitle them to favorable consideration. to be known and designated as the "soldiers' roll of the Senate," and to continue such persons in service until cause for their removal is reported and or say something in exchange for the approved by the Senate. The federal ldiers performing like service about the House are already provided for in this manner.

When the bill for the purchase of the Temple farm, the scene of the Yorktown surrender came up in its turn on the "The pension list has passed the bounds of justice and legitimacy. > It is noticeable at the Capitol that while without exception all the applicants for office under the incoming dministration express themselves in favor of the Gresham nomination, those have no favors to ask of that administration speak of it as most unfortunate for the unity and solidity of the democratic party.

Of course there will be an extra session of the Senate immediately after the 4th of March, when that body will be reorganized. In its reorganization Mr. Daniel will probably be assigned the chairmanship of the committee on Indian affairs, and Mr. Hunton that on education and labor. The President on Saturday nominated John V. L. Findlay, of Baltimore, to be arbitrator on the part of the United Sates at the meeting of the United States and Chilian claims commission. This meeting is in accordance with the treaty signed at Santiago on August 7, 1892, for the purpose of August 7, 1892, for the purpose of finally settling certain claims of each of the two countries against the other, arising out of the Chili-Peruvian war.

Though Secretary Foster, of the Treasury Department, had made complete arrangements last week for the sale of bonds to increase the gold reserve none has yet been sold, and the administration is apparently determined to adhere to its purpose of leaving the task of straightening out the tangled condition in which the monetary system of the country has been involved during the past four years to the incoming democratic administration.

The Hawaiian Envoys.

The members of the Hawaiian Annexation Commission were given a special reception by the President in the presentation of the commissioners was made by Secretary of State Foster. No speeches were made and no specific reference to the mission of the commissioners was touched upon. The affair was entirely informal and lasted about half an hour, during which time a pieasant conversation was had with the President. After the reception the commissioners were shown through the mansion. They were much interested in public reception in the East room and remained until its close.

The Hawaiian commissioners followed up the distinct advantage gained by their official recognition by dent, which gives them a diplomatic standing, by calling in their new capacity as recognized envoys upon Secretary Foster at the State Department in the afternoon. Their conference with him commenced about 4 o'clock and lasted an hour and a half. President, in accentuating his cordial reception of the commissioners, had intimated to them that the negotiations which were the subject of their mission would be conducted by the Secretary of The commissioners accordingly repaired to the State Department at the close of the ordinary day's business and laid before Secretary Foster in detail the practical proposition they are authorized to submit. Some progress was made towards arriving at a harmonious view of the exigencies of the situation, but no definite conclusion was reached, and the senference was adjourned till to-day.

Raised from the Dead.

As the result of a long and desperate German Hospital yesterday restored Mrs. Clara Jeffreys to life after she had been practically dead for several hours. placed on file. The woman wanted to die. Some two years ago her husband left her, taking en in health and spirits, she took up her home with her brother, Thomas J. Bulley, at No. 2614 Ridge avenue, some months ago.

Last week, when Mrs. Jeffreys had mite recovered her health, and was indeed a splendid specimen of womanhood, her mother died. This last sorrow preyed upon her mind, and she determined to seek rest in death. She purchased two ounces of unadulterated laudanum at a drug store near 29th street and Ridge avenue, on Friday evening, and returned home. Her un usual brightness attracted the attention of the family, and when they missed her about 9 o'clock, her brother, Thos. low open the safe in the vestry-room J. Bulley, went to her room, where he found her standing before a mirror with a vial between her lips, and the dark liquid pouring down her throat. He rushed to her side and wrested the bot-hours he worked with her; but gave her up for dead at midnight, and advised the family to send her to a hospital, where, with proper appliances, heroic measures might save her. A patrol wagon landed Mrs. Jeffreys at the German Hospital soon after midnight, and the doctor in charge at once pronounced her dead. Not the slightest trace of life could be discovered, although every test was tried. Not wishing to appear inhuman, the doctor decided to try the most heroic measures known to medical science, and after an hour's hard work the faintest tinge of color was noticed in the woman's lips. Artificial respiration had been produced at the start, and every moment seemed an hour after the appearance of the first sign of life.

New and fresh men were summoned to handle the body under the close personal care of the doctors, and as color slowly spread over her face the workers renewed their efforts.

After a time the patient showed such marked improvement as to warrant the doctors in permitting her to resume natural breathing. She made two gasps for breath and fell dead away

Electrodes connected with an alternating current were strapped to her breasts. These were charged to the highest safe voltage, and as the current changed from side to side the body raised and lowered with it. A strong man on his knees forced her chest up and down, while another pulled and pushed her body over a cylinder, bending her head up and down and pulling her arms up and down like pump They strapped her hands to handles, gether high above her head and smacked them down against her hips hard enough to blister them. A person witnessing the operation would have thought it most inhuman treatment but it was the only means of saving her life, and a very slim hope at that At the first real sign of life attendants grasped her feet and put her legs through all the motions of walking. As soon as one man was tired out another took his place. They rubbed her limbs with the palms of their hands and kneaded her muscles until they would have been sore had she been sensible of When she began breathing naturally they stood her on her feet and raced her up and down the long room like a quarter horse, now and again returning her to the aperating table, where the electricity was applied again and again.

Once more the heroic measures were Mr. Oliver Altman, of Mt. Fleasant, Wastmoreland county, Pa. cured a pain in the back of ten years standing with Salvation Oil. NEW YORK, February 13.-The currence situation had its effect upon the stock market this morning in a restriction of business to less than half a dozen stocks in the main, fessional character, and the indispositi trade for either side of the account being specially marked. The rest of the list was entirely barren of interest while displaying a firm temper after an irregular opening. A: 11 o'clock the market was fairly active and firm at only slight changes from opening Wholesale Prices in Alexandria. Flour, fine. $1.75 a 2.00 Superfine. 2.00 s 2.20
